"There is nothing on this earth more to be prized than true friendship.'

Thomas Aquinas

January 22, 2015

Dear Friends and Families:

In John 15:13, Jesus said "The greatest love you can have for a friend is to give your life for them," and he did give his life for his friends and all of us. We at St. Stan's are a community of family and friends and the greatest love we have is dedicating our lives to one another and the education of the children who walk through our doors daily. The education that is given here reaches far beyond reading, science, math and social studies that are studied in any school; but it delves down deeply as we teach students how to live a life that emulates Jesus Christ and all those saints and holy people who came after him. As we begin Catholic Schools Week on Sunday, January 25th at 9am Mass, I encourage each of you to ask another family to join us and see what St. Stan's has to offer their children.

We expect to see our students at 9AM Mass on Sunday, in uniform to celebrate the gift of St. Stan's School and Catholic education. Following Mass the HSA will be serving breakfast and our ambassadors will be conducting tours for potential new families. Registration forms will also be available for the 2015-2016 school year. There are a variety of events next week and I ask you to check our website for a list of those activities. One special event was brought to us by sixth grade student, Jiya Passey. Each student will spend a half hour in the computer lab answering grade appropriate academic questions on a site called freerice.com. At the end of Catholic Schools' Week a donation will be made to a community in need of food, by virtue of the grains of rice we earn through answering questions. This is just one example of how our students take the initiative to be citizens of the world and try to help where needed!

I hope to see all of you at some point during Catholic Schools' Week and it is also my hope that a great many people come to see the gem that this school is. My daily prayers contain the friends I have here, to whom I choose to dedicate my life and service.

In His Peace,

Elena Malinconico, Principal
