Dear Parents and Guardians:

It is easy for me to believe in what we are doing here at St. Stanislaus Kostka School, because each day I see the extraordinary children that walk our halls. These children work diligently at their academics and strive to live Catholic virtues each and every day. We look forward to showing new families what life at St. Stan's is like during Catholic Schools' Week. There is a flyer enclosed in this week's white envelope asking for your help in introducing our school to potential new families. We certainly do not want to hide the strong and vibrant light of our school under a bushel.

In the coming months we will be celebrating two very important events. Pope Francis has designated this year The Meeting of World Families. We will be sponsoring small events throughout the year to celebrate our school families. Please look for notifications that will be sent to you in reference to this celebration. We will also be celebrating the school's hundredth anniversary between now and June. I have enclosed a form for parents, students, and alumni who would be gracious enough to help organize some of these upcoming events and projects; your help would be invaluable and so greatly appreciated.

Finally, we will have a very special program during our HSA meeting on January 28th. Students in Preschool through Grade Six will be participating in the NJ state CAP program. CAP stands for Child Assault Prevention. This program is designed to provide age appropriate information to children on keeping themselves safe in all situations. I encourage parents to attend to get a better understanding of this fantastic program.

As always you are in my daily prayers.
